Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was discussed: Claim 68 recited "A computer readable medium carrying one or more instructions" this could be suggestive of being a signal or carrier wave, to overcome this possible rejection, it was suggested to replace "carrying" by "embodying". Furthermore, claim 68 recited in line 4 "execution of one or more sequences of instructions by one or more processors causes the one or more processors to perform" this could be considered as an attempt to perform but not definitely conclude in performing, which could lead it to being vague and indefinite. To overcome this possible rejection, it was suggested to replace "causes the one or more processors to perform" by "results in performing". These suggestions were agreed upon by Mr. Beck .
